"All Right" Keynote of Nation's Optimism

So Says Abdul Baba who Discovers in the Words Characteristic of Our People.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Abdul Baba, Prophet of world peace, says he has found the keynote of American optimism.

"It is these two words, 'All right,'" he said. "Everywhere I go, the people say, 'All right.' I believe the expression typically reflects the opinion of the great country."

Abdul Baba traveled yesterday with his wife to Montreal, N. J., where he spoke at the home of Charles H. Edson.

He was rigorously questioned on incidents in his life for years back, to the time he was six years old.

Most Decisive Mark-Downs Ever Offered in the Month of May on Women's and Misses' New Spring Coats and Suits

All the garment selling that would have taxed the capacity of our regular force during the last month—if the weather had been pleasant—will be crowded into the next six days. And every customer will receive the same careful attention.

Figuring that Spring Coats and Suits are worth at least 40 per cent more in early May than in Mid-July these sale prices are lower than any July prices we have ever offered. An important suggestion to the many women who always wait until July to get our style, quality, tailoring and fit at the prices they would have to pay for the inferior as early as May 13th.

Women's 25.00 and 29.50 Suits
Women's suits, taken from our regular stock, and include men's wear, serge, mixtures and whiskers of fine quality. A complete range of sizes, whether you select plain tailored or a trimmed style. Prices $25.00 to $29.50.

Women's 29.50 and 35.00 Suits
Women's suits, taken from our regular stock, and include men's wear, serge, mixtures and whiskers of fine quality. A complete range of sizes, whether you select plain tailored or a trimmed style. Prices $29.50 to $35.00.

LAD TRAP TO ENSNARE JUDGE

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.—How W. P. Boland, after a ten-year fight, laid a trap to ensnare Judge Robert W. Archibald of the Commerce Court, was revealed before the Judiciary Committee of the House today.

Alma B. Cockrell, confidential clerk of the Interstate Commerce Commission, at the opening of the inquiry into the charges against Judge Archibald today.

Cockrell said that Boland as first step in the trap had advised E. J. Williams, a friend of Judge Archibald, of the existence of the coin bank belonging to the Erie Railroad after a decision by the judge had caused Boland an expense of about $2,500.

Williams neither denied that the papers were all right, nor did he deny the existence of the coin bank, but he did not talk very much, but did say that the papers were all right, and that the coin bank was not a part of the Erie Railroad.

FARMER IN COURT FOR KILLING THIEF WHO RAIDED HOME

PITTSFIELD, May 13.—John Parker, the Holmes Road farmer, who shot and killed James King on Sunday morning while he was running away from Parker's house where he had stolen food from the farmer and attempted to enter the next door, came into court today. Parker furnished $1,000 cash bail for his appearance at the inquest on the death of King on Wednesday, May 15. No charge against Parker.

Mrs. Smalley Would Untie Marriage Knot

Twice Married to George Smalley, She Charges Cruelty and Threats to Kill

Altogether Patricia R. Smalley and George Smalley were married twice—both times to each other—it has not proven satisfactory to the wife, and today at the opening of the June divorce court in Boston she asked Judge Powers to sever the double knot that binds them.

Mrs. Smalley explained that when she was married first to her husband on February 22, 1900, she had been informed that he had a divorce from his wife. Later she learned that he was not divorced. When it was learned that Smalley's divorce was legal they were married a second time. His husband treated her cruelly, and she was threatened to kill her.

A Caviar Sandwich Is Not Always as Harmless as It Looks; Ask Claude Eclairé

I.—IN THE TOILS. Claude Eclairé, our peerless hero, is again in the toils of the Russian police on the suspicion of being a nihilist. Claude is to be hanged before the dreaded Chief of the Third Section, the whisper of whose name sends terror into the heart of millionaires from the Baltic to the Pacific.

II.—THE REQUEST. Claude has been thrown into a cell while awaiting the ordeal of meeting the chief. From the barred windows he sees the international enemy, Desmond, walking with the beautiful Desmond. Much as he hates the scoundrel, the pangs of hunger compel our hero to ask Desmond to bring him a caviar sandwich, which is the staple diet of Russia.

III.—TO THE GUN STORE. With unfeigned alacrity Desmond hastens to fulfill Claude's commission, and Desmond is compelled to go along with him. Greatly to her surprise, the villain stands straight, not for a restaurant, but for a gun store. The girl, quick-witted as she is, can see no reason for this, but she nevertheless suspects the villain of plotting harm to her lover, Claude.

IV.—THE LOADED SANDWICH. Desmond was right. Desmond did have a plan to work harm to her lover when he went to the gun store. Look at the fourth picture above and you will see the dastardly trick. The villain is making a caviar sandwich out of shot. Now, shot may be as nourishing as caviar—it probably is—but you can guess how it would affect the teeth.

V.—THE SERVICE RENDERED. Desmond hastens back to the prison with the sandwich he has so carefully prepared for the captive. Claude, always courteous, thanks the international renegade for the service he has done. But at the hour time warns him that war is the hour. Claude will be rescued as soon as he can escape. But Desmond little cares for such warnings from a prisoner.

VI.—DEATH! Ouch! The hungry hero has bitten deep into the loaded sandwich. His teeth close upon the shot. Ouch! again. One of Claude's previous teeth appears to have been considerably damaged and he fears deathly pains about for a week or so as that he can consult an American dentist. Therefore we shall see how our hero succeeds.

How Slowly the Law Moves— Sometimes.

Especially When a Man Without Money Tries to Get Justice from a Big Corporation.

Copyright, 1912, by American Journal Examiner.

Unluckily this kind of train can be found running, or rather crawling, in the United States as well as in Germany and other countries.

The law, WRITTEN by lawyers, INTERPRETED by lawyers, built up through the ages FOR THE BENEFIT OF LAWYERS, creeps snail-like indeed, except when somebody makes it well worth while for the lawyers to hurry.

Legal verbiage, legal delays, quibbles, appeals—everything that human ingenuity can invent to discourage the poor and give advantage to the rich and powerful, is found in the practice of law.

There are short cuts through the law—but not for the poor man. There are lawyers that hurry, get action, get results, GET THE COURTS MOVING—but such lawyers are not for the poor man.

Let the big, powerful engine of wealth come up behind this slow-moving train of justice, and you will see a change. The snail will begin to gallop, although that is against his nature and his anatomy. The driver will sit up straight, eager and interested, and the old train of justice will bump along at a good rate of speed and get somewhere.

But when the snail of justice pulls, with no pushing from behind, slow is the moving.

And pitiful is the plight of the little poor man made desperate by injustice when he tries to get what is due him and finds wealth and legal delays against him.

Ask the thousands that have just complaints against corporations. Ask the tens of thousands that submit to being cheated of their wages—because they know a fight for justice would beggar them.

Why are things in this shape, do you ask?
Foolish question.

The law is very badly managed for you, BUT EXCELLENTLY MANAGED FOR THE LAWYERS. And you let the lawyers make all your laws and interpret all your laws—what can you expect?

Are things thus everywhere? No, not so bad everywhere.

In England a man can bring a lawsuit against the biggest railroad if only for four dollars because his trunk is not delivered, and he can get judgment inside of two weeks AND GET HIS MONEY, AND IT DOES NOT COST HIM ANYTHING.

An average American could not do that in two years, and it would cost him a hundred times the amount sued for before he got it. We have a rotten system of justice for the poor, and an admirable system for the rich, and especially for the corporations.

Eventually, when the citizens begin to vote as thinking beings and cease voting as assinine party men, when our men of intelligence work for the body of the people, instead of working to pile up a few more millions for themselves, we shall hurry this train of justice.

When the day of public intelligence arrives, the people will surprise some judges that feel deeply grieved when they have to work almost half a day and almost half a year at the half-day rate.

And they will surprise the lawyers, of whom, like the judges, some are honest, able, painstaking and conscientious—and the majority something quite different.

Get Out Into the Country NOW

Go, if You Can Stay Only a Few Hours. See Nature Waking and Rouse Yourself to New Ideas.

Copyright, 1912, by American Journal Examiner.

Those that wait for hot weather and then leave the city for a period, short or long, miss the country's real beauty.

NOW is the time to take yourself, your family, the children especially, to the place where green things grow and where the earth is real.

Some early flowers are out, decorating nature's early work. Millions of daisies are in bud. And every bud is an education and an inspiration for the mind of a child.

The trees that were dark, bare and dead only a few weeks since are alive and producing the leaves that are the ideas of a tree. Some of the trees are making of vivid green. Others, higher types, that develop more slowly, like the oak and the hickory, are just beginning their Spring work, with faint, reddish indications of life in the branch tips.

Birds, beetles, rabbits, turtles, frogs—everything that lives in the green country has a new interest in life. Young calves take their first look at the sky, their second look at the natural dining car so white and inviting beside them, and decide that a very nice world has been prepared to make them happy. Knowledge of the hideous slaughter house is far away.

There is education and inspiration in the mother chicken watching the duffy little yellow balls. How beautiful is her power, her capacity for excitement and enthusiasm every time she hatches an egg! What a world this would be if men could go at their work as the hen goes at the business of setting, and if men could supervise the work as the hen supervises the chickens hatched out!

This is the time of year to study the sky—the light, thin clouds and the big, blue spaces, and the heavy gray clouds when the slow wind carries the rain and fertility across the fields.

The Summer is beautiful, and the Autumn and the Winter, but the Spring, THIS TIME OF YEAR, is the happy time, the time of hope, inspiration.

Go to the country when it is very hot if you can, and stay as long as you can. BUT GO TO THE COUNTRY NOW, IF ONLY FOR A FEW HOURS.

Trolley cars, short rides on the railroads—many means of transportation will get you away from the cobblestones, the dust and the bricks to the green fields, and let you stify for a moment with your children man's home, the earth, as it ought to be, and forget the hideous, man-made cancer called the city.

"I Want to Tell Daddy Good Night,"

A BILL OF RIGHTS

WHEREAS, The Babies of the United States of America, lawfully assembled, did present unto Their Majesties, called and known by the names and style of Father (or Daddy) and Mother (or Mummy), a certain Declaration, made by the said Babies, in the words following, to-wit:

WHEREAS, The Babies of the United States of America being now assembled for the vindicating and asserting of their ancient rights and liberties declare:

1. That all Babies are entitled to be, and should be, as fat as butter.
2. That freedom of speech should not be impeached or questioned, all Babies having the undoubted right to laugh, crow, chuckle, coo and otherwise audibly express their feelings.
3. That any Baby falling upon the floor, bumping his or her head, or in any other way hurting, bruising or scratching his or her body, has the right to cry loudly until such time as 'Tiger Majesty, his or her Mother, shall kiss the place of said injury, bump, bruise or scratch and thereby make it well, whereupon the said crying shall gradually cease and merge into a smile.
4. That each and every Baby is entitled to a diminutive or pet-name, by which said Baby shall be known to and addressed by all Adults admitted to the honor of said Baby's acquaintance.
5. That every Baby has the ancient right and privilege of receiving from His Majesty, Father, one or more kisses upon His Majesty's return from work in the evening, provided and agreed that said Baby can and does truthfully declare said Baby has been a good boy or girl while Father was absent from the house.
6. That all Babies are entitled to full and free belief in fairies, elves and all other good spirits which people the world of childhood.

That each and every Baby should, without let or hindrance, be admitted to citizenship in the Land of Make-Believe, and that all Adults should regard with due respect and admiration dwelling houses made of two sticks, or trains composed of three chairs; and should upon command carefully hold and nurse children made of rag and string. Furthermore every Adult should show by his or her actions that he or she is duly terrified when a Baby shall announce that said Baby is no Baby at all, but is in truth a savage wolf or bear, and said Adult should shriek in terror when said wolf or bear purrues with loud growls the said Adult.

That each and every Baby is entitled, before going to sleep, to hear the story of "Underella," "Little Red Riding Hood," "Goody Two Shoes" or other tales of just and ancient fame among children.

That all Babies are entitled to and should receive from Their Majesties, Father and Mother, and from all other Adults whatsoever, unceasing Love, and this without fee, payment or any condition, but solely by virtue of being Babies.

AND the Babies do claim, demand and insist upon all and singular the premises as their undoubted rights and liberties.

NOW, Be it declared and enacted by Their Majesties, Father and Mother, that all and singular the rights and liberties asserted and claimed in the said Declaration are the true, ancient and undoubted rights and liberties of the Babies of the United States of America.

By order of Their Majesties,
WEX JONES.

The Socialistic
Tempest That Is Brewing

—AND—

Coffman's Clever
Cartoons in This Paper

Written for the American by

DR. C. H. PARKHURST

It is dangerous to put excessive emphasis on the dark side of things, and there is just as little discretion in throwing upon the dark side a light that is as fatal and, ostrich-like, to thrust our heads into the sand and argue that because there is no enemy immediately in sight, therefore there is no enemy.

Because there is peace in our homes, and the machinery of social life continues to run without jolt or jar, we easily become insensitive of and therefore indifferent to the tempest that is brewing.

It is very often the case that in nature the sky is for a long time full of sunshine, even after a storm of great fury has begun to develop near the horizon.

Certainly to the observant eye the signs of tempest are already in the air, and to one who looks across the world with a glance that takes in the whole collective scene it is not easy and it is not reasonable to maintain one's self in perfect serenity of mind.

It is not simply that there is more or less of skirmishing going on in our own country, as among the miners and the textile workers, or that Socialism is asserting itself on American ground with a tone that is increasingly distinct and determined.

The more serious thing to consider is that what we listen to here is but a few notes of the general concert of discontent that prevails both sides of the sea, and that that discontent is everywhere declaring itself in tones that are increasingly confident and bold.

And, so far as appears, nothing essential is being done to stay the forward march of dissatisfaction.

We had civil war half a century ago, and the mutterings of another civil war of an economic kind are distinctly audible.

And in some respects the war that is threatened now is of a lower grade than that which we experienced in the stirring years while that was waged over a principle, this is war over a dollar.

This struggle, into the edge of which we are already entered, is simply a quarrel over the division of the spoils of labor.

There is not a redeeming feature nor a touch of nobility in the whole business.

It is like the sparring of two dogs over the division of a bone. This is not saying that there is not involved a question of rights—rights on both sides.

But in the last analysis the entire scurrilousness reduces itself to this, that one side or the other, or both—wants more than belongs to it. It is simply the case on an enlarged scale of two boys fighting over a bag of marbles, each trying to see how many he can get without much caring how many of how few will be left for the other boy.

It is a disgrace to Christendom

When Gold Is Powerless

By H. P. LEONARD

I VE an income in gold—rentals untold— That would bridge every inch to the shore; With castles so grand, and townships of land, Am worth a hundred millions or more.

The lifeboat is lowered, the last we possess, And its oars bear the women away; We wait for the moment when they lay side Will engulf us, down fathoms to day.

Master of acres and acres of land, I have passed far beyond my domain, Where the power of gold is unknown—untold, And King Death with his sceptre doth reign.
